SUDDEN DEATH OF

MRS. EDWIN TROLAND

Had Attack of Heart Disease While Returning Home from Missionary Meeting.

Word was received here late Wednesday afternoon by Attorney Wallace S. Allen of the death in Malden, Mass., of Mrs. Adelaide Troland, formerly of this city. Mrs. Troland had been to a missionary meeting in the afternoon and on the way home was seized with an attack of heart disease. She lived only a few minutes after she was stricken.

Mrs. Troland was a native of this city and lived here up to within a dozen years ago, when her husband purchased a hardware and plumbing business in Malden, and the family moved there. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erasmus O'Brien of this city, her father having been of the firm of O'Brien & Brewster, who ran a grocery store on the corner of Main and Ferry streets. She was married in this city a number of years ago to Edwin Troland, son of the late Archibald Troland, and lived on Pearl street before moving to Malden. She was a member of the East Main street Methodist church, and later of Trinity Methodist church, and took a deep interest in religious work. She was highly esteemed by all who knew her and her loss will be deeply felt in her home as well as in other circles. She leaves her husband and a son, Leonard, and is also survived by her mother, who lived with her in Malden.

Washington Elm Limb Fell.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock Wednesday evening a large limb broke off the Washington elm on Washington square, coming to the ground with a crash, and narrowly escaping hitting a wagon which had just passed under it. The limb fell on and smashed down one side of the new picket fence which was placed around the elm this year.

ONE TO TWO YEARS ON FIRST COUNT AND ONE YEAR ON THE SECOND FOR BOROWY—HAZEL BOWMAN GETS YEAR IN JAIL AND LAUGH—DELMORE PLEADS GUILTY.

When the criminal superior court resumed its session here on Wednesday morning a jury was secured for the trial of the case of the state vs. Hazel Bowman, charged with misprision of felony in assisting Samuel Kelson, the colored man who stabbed the sailor, Harry Bohn, in New London, to escape by sending him money and clothes. She pleaded not guilty and was defended by Attorney Connor. The accused is a young and good looking colored woman, aged 23, who has been connected with some questionable places in New London.

The first witness called was Joseph Soltz of New London, in whose saloon the cutting took place July 23. He had known Kelson several years but Bohn met for the first time that day. There were six sailors in the saloon and Hazel Bowman and Grace Ashland were also there, the latter coming in with another sailor and for her the witness changed a $2 bill. She gave the sailor one dollar in return and he demanded fifty cents more. She refused and Bohn grabbed the woman, Kelson interposing and both went down on the floor. The police were called and the fighters told to leave there, which they did in a short time. After they left the police came and about ten minutes later he saw a crowd in the street. He did not see any instrument in Kelson's hand although he was the only one fighting with him. Bohn is now in the New London hospital.

Policeman Hammond and Beebe told of being called to the Soltz saloon and trying to find Kelson, while Postal Clerk E. A. Cook testified that he delivered a letter from Kelson to Hazel Bowman.

Saloonkeeper Barnett Lubow testified that he kept money for Hazel and about the time of the fight had $30. George Doyle, who pleaded guilty to his part in the affair and received ten months in jail, testified that he received $15 from the Bowman woman and also took some underclothes to Kelson. He tried to have a dining car waiter do it but he refused. Dr. G. E. Bradford testified to treating Sailor Harry Bohn, being the last witness for the state.

The accused was called and denied her part in the affair. She made evasive answers when she was asked about the letter from Kelson. When Doyle asked for money she said she supposed Kelson wanted it to pay some bills in New London. In telling Lubow she got money from her mother's estate. She said she was married to a man named White but he is not now in New London. She claimed she had known Kelson eight years, he having roomed at her house as did Brack Killam. She claimed that she could not read or write and that Kelson did that for her. She claimed Kelson had $15 at Lubow's saloon and went there after it but did not know where Kelson was at the time.

She admitted knowing a Mrs. Reed in Bridgeport where the money was sent but denied that Doyle saw any underclothes. She admitted receiving the letter written by Kelson in which she was addressed as Dear Hazel.

Arguments were made by Attorneys Burrows, Connor and Hull, being completed at 4:55. Judge Wheeler charged the jury occupying about fifteen minutes and they were given the case at 4:05. Returning at 4:23 through Foreman Dickey a verdict of guilty was given.

Year in Jail.

State Attorney Hull moved for sentence and Attorney Connor spoke in behalf of the woman, claiming that whatever she had done in the matter she had done innocently. He suggested a sentence about the same as Doyle received.

State's Attorney Hull had little to say about the case and Judge Wheeler sentenced her to a year in jail.

This evidently tickled Hazel as her face beamed with a broad smile and she was seen chucking as she took her seat. She had been afraid of getting a state prison sentence and said afterwards that she could sleep easy now. She had talked with her husband before going to the jail, laughing as she did so and kissed and bade him goodbye as if going on a vacation otherwise than in jail.

Belmore Given Four Months.

While the jury was out in the Bowman case two sentences were imposed. In the case against Michael Delmore of New London charged with common law burglary in the daytime a plea of guilty was made. Attorney Freeman spoke for the accused saying that he hesitated in advising the accused to plead guilty as there are peculiar circumstances in the case. The accused is a painter. When he gets to drinking he knows little of what he does. He has been drinking in the third story of the building when he left and on returning went into a room on the second story. What he did there is not known. One of the principal witnesses for the state, the woman whose room he entered, has been taken to the hospital and for that reason rather than have his case go over until another term, he being unable to get bonds and has been in jail four months already, he allowed him to plead guilty.

Borowy Goes to Prison.

Sentence was asked for in the case against Joseph Borowy, who has been found guilty of forgery. Judge Barnes thought that the fact that Borowy had been employed here three years without being arrested before argued in his favor and also the fact that he did not run away from the city to be no hardened criminal as he wouldn't have stayed. He said the accused had been in jail five months and he asked for a jail sentence.

Being appointed by Judge Gager in the case, Attorney Barnes said that there had been a mystery about it and there is still one. He said he did not fully understand the case yet. State Attorney Hull said that the mystery in this case is the fact that there have been two other checks come up here from Pennsylvania to be cashed of a like stamp as the three in this case. They came from Glen Lyon one being for $25 and the other for $40. One of these was cashed by some ignorant Italians, and the fellow got away and went back home where he was arrested and brought here. He was fined $15 and costs, the latter amounting to over $20, in the city court. The state attorney stated that the case had been disposed of in the city court because the judge considered he should dispose of the case on the novel ground that the ones who cashed it ought to have known better, and imposed what I consider a ridiculous sentence. He said he believed a systematic plan is being worked out whereby someone is going about cashing such checks.

Attorney Barnes stated that he had asked the interpreter in the case, who went to Glen Lyon to see the wife of the man who was fined $15 and costs in Glen Lyon, which he did, and found that there was no connection with that party and Borowy.

Judge Wheeler inquired into this new matter, but thought there was little to effect the case. He said that at first he had been impressed with Borowy and thought he was innocent, but later from the evidence he believed him guilty. There are three counts in the complaint. In the first he gave Borowy not less than one nor more than two years in state prison, and on the second one year in prison. There was no sentence on the third.

Court was adjourned at 4:35 until this morning at 10 o'clock.

OPEN HOUSE CLUB.

Case Building to Be Fitted Up Immediately—"Evangeline" to Be Inspected.

The board of governors of the Open House club is to go to Westerly tonight to see the performance of "Evangeline," given by Westerly amateur talent. Mr. and Mrs. Rodenbaugh, under whose direction the production is put on, are desirous that Open House should produce the play here.

Work will be begun at once in the case building, opposite the postoffice on Main street, and recently vacated by William H. Murphy, to fit it for the new quarters for Open House. While this is being done the club rooms in the Thames Loan and Trust company building are to be closed to facilitate moving.

Private Social.

A well attended private social was held Wednesday evening at the Broadway dancing academy with Professors Maher and Kennedy in charge and providing an enjoyable time for all present. The hall has been prettily decorated in streamers in canopy form and lace curtains placed at all the windows, making a Japanese tea garden. Among the out of town visitors Wednesday evening were Matthew Brennan and Miss Ethel Sylvia of New London.

Eighth Birthday Party.

Clarence Spicer, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Spicer of Poquetanuck, was agreeably surprised on his eighth birthday Wednesday evening by about 30 of his young friends. Master Spicer entertained his guests hospitably, after he recovered from his surprise, and a very pleasant evening was passed. Singing and other music, games and the serving of refreshments were part of the evening's programme. A number of handsome birthday gifts were presented to Master Spicer.

Planning Season's Work.

A meeting of the Catholic Women's club was held Wednesday evening in the basement at St. Patrick's church, having a good attendance, when called to order by the president, Mrs. P. H. Harriman. Some discussion over the work for the season was held, and the holding of a sale was decided upon. The meeting adjourned till tonight for another meeting at the home of the president.

Pleasing Musicals.

A musicale for a dozen guests was given Wednesday evening at the home of Harry Sweet No. 17 West Main street, and an admirable programme given. Piano solos, including the Liszt rhapsody and the 13th rhapsody were rendered with fine expression by Prof. Goutrel H. Bakom, the Sweet trio of piano violin and cello were heard in well rendered numbers and the piano solos of Miss Bessie Stamm were executed with feeling and fine technique.

Harry Hill Injured.

Harry Hill of Norwich is suffering from an injured arm as the result of an accident at the Hamburg fair Wednesday. He lost his balance while holding a large bottle of orangeade and fell and a piece of broken glass cut a deep gash in his forearm. The wound bled profusely and stopped by a Lyme doctor who happened to be on the grounds.

AT BROADWAY THEATER.

His Majesty and the Maid.

At the Broadway theater on Wednesday evening the Gage Stock company presented His Majesty and the Maid in a clever manner, the four acts of this drama being given in a way which called for genuine approval. It was a story of an attempt to overthrow the king by poisoning him and having the queen reign. This was cleverly frustrated by the maid who proved to be the king's daughter. The entire company was well cast for their respective roles, Anna Leon, Albert Morton, D. E. Benn and Frederick Gage being especially good.

The specialties excited much pleasure and received enthusiastic applause, the moving pictures being particularly pleasing.

During the evening the drawings for building lots resulted in awards to Miss Heibel, Miss Macauley, Baltic; Mr. Thomas and Miss O'Neil.
